Frisco's Collective Design + Furnishings Hires Lead Interior Designer, Oshi Gardarian

FRISCO, COLO.
2/13/2020

Collective Design + Furnishings, located in Frisco, announced the recent hire of Lead Interior Designer, Oshi Gardarian.

With a degree in Interior Design from Colorado State University, Vail native Gardarian brings a decade of experience at firms in the mountain west. After beginning her career at Vail's Slifer Designs, Gardarian most recently spent three years at Pearson Design Group in Bozeman, Mont. Her residential design portfolio includes projects that have been featured in Mountain Living and Luxe Magazine, and being a part of the team that was awarded Home of the Year at Denver's Parade of Homes.

"Oshi's extensive experience, inviting personality and world-class design talents make her an excellent addition to the Collective team, and we are thrilled to have her on board," says Adrienne Rynes, VP of Design at Collective.

Gardarian recently moved back to the Vail Valley after her time in Bozeman and sought out a reputable firm at which to take the next step in her interior design career.

"I was so impressed by Collective's degree of professionalism, the team environment and the outstanding reputation they have in the design world as a great company that produces beautiful homes," says Gardarian.

Gardarian has hit the ground running, applying her personal approach to Collective's interior design and remodel projects in Summit County and the Vail Valley.

"I believe that keeping open and clear relationships with clients is the only way to deliver a successful project," says Gardarian. "And I look forward to fostering those kinds of relationships as a part of the Collective team."
